Toronto: NIMDAC (North Indian Medical and Dental Association) Foundation that supports the Heart & Stroke Foundation, is now turning its eye into another critical area of care. Last week, the Association donated generously $25000 to the Canadian National Institute for the Blind (CNIB). The fund will help CNIB launch their program to work with parents and their blind and partially sighted children in Grades 1-2. In the short span of just 18 months the NIMDAC foundation has donated $185,000 to various institutions. Dr. Asha Seth, President of NIMDAC Foundation in her address said: "I wish to congratulate CNIB for doing such a wonderful job with sight-impaired persons and helping them to have a fuller life. We at NIMDAC Foundation decided to be a part of CNIB's initiative for skills development of young children in grades 1 and 2. Children are our future." With that she handed over the cheque to John Rafferty, President and CEO of CNIB, to great applause from the attendees.
